

VU Research Portal

Antimicrobial Resistance

Collignon, P.J.

2017

document version

Publisher's PDF, also known as Version of record

Link to publication in VU Research Portal

citation for published version (APA)

Collignon, P. J. (2017). Antimicrobial Resistance: Using "One Health" to better control this life threatening and escalating international problem. [PhD-Thesis - Research and graduation internal, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam].

General rights

Copyright and moral rights for the publications made accessible in the public portal are retained by the authors and/or other copyright owners and it is a condition of accessing publications that users recognise and abide by the legal requirements associated with these rights.

- Users may download and print one copy of any publication from the public portal for the purpose of private study or research.
- You may not further distribute the material or use it for any profit-making activity or commercial gain
- You may freely distribute the URL identifying the publication in the public portal ?

Take down policy

If you believe that this document breaches copyright please contact us providing details, and we will remove access to the work immediately and investigate your claim.

E-mail address:

vuresearchportal.ub@vu.nl

Index

Summary and Introduction

Chapters

1. An overview of the extent of the problem and what we need to do
2. Usage patterns, antibiotic resistance and how regulations and controls can help limit antibiotic resistance
3. Healthcare and Infection control – how to measure and prevent infections
4. How travel spreads resistant bacteria
5. Determining the extent of resistance in animals and the environment, identifying new or important resistance patterns and means of controlling resistance and spread
6. The role of water and the environment in the spread of resistant bacteria
7. Why antibiotic use for growth promotion in food animals does not help the nutrition of people
8. Social and other factors in antibiotic resistance

General Discussion and Conclusion

References

Acknowledgments